The site of Hackett's Store was located to the north and immediately adjacent to Hackett's Cottage. Archaeological investigation may reveal the exact location of the store. Photographic evidence indicates that the front facade featured large display windows.

HISTORY

Construction Date:	1890	Source:
Architect:	Not available
Builder:	Not available

The store was operated by Ned Hackett, who lived with his wife Harriet in the adjacent house. [Place No. 41] It is believed that the store was badly damaged by fire and subsequently demolished.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The site of Hackett's Store has some local historic significance for its association with the development of the Front Flats and for its connection to Ned Hackett. It is evidence of the prominence of Central Greenough as a major settlement in the district.

MANAGEMENT CATEGORY

Level of Significance: HISTORIC SITE: The site has historic significance for its previous use and its role in the historical development of the locality.
Management Recommendation: Proposed development may need to have regard to possible archaeological evidence remaining on the site. Recognise and interpret the site if feasible. This may be achieved through a variety of methods including, but not limited to, signage, public art, paving treatment and landscaping as well as design treatment of any new development which reflects the former use of the site.
