MARCH 2025

Senior Community Citizen of the Year 2025

Anne Dixon has been a dedicated volunteer at Centacare for many years, playing an invaluable role in their Christmas volunteer team. December and January are particularly busy months for her, as she engages in various activities such as sorting Christmas donations, wrapping hampers and gifts, volunteering at the Christmas Day Community lunch, and assisting with Centacare's Back to School Project. In addition to her work with Centacare, Anne also dedicates time to visiting lonely individuals in the community.

Anne runs the "Switched on Seniors" program with Roger Cefai at the QEII Centre, where she teaches seniors how to use their mobile devices and stay connected and up to date with technology. Congratulations Anne!

Congrats Roger

One of our valued volunteers Roger Cefai, from the Switched-on Seniors group was nominated for the City of Greater Geraldton 2025 Australia Day award for his dedication to helping seniors develop their technological skills. He may not have won the top prize but he's a winner in our books!

Snippets of My Life

With Irene Shepherd

The QEll Knitters & Crochet Group began 17 years ago when Irene Shepherd donated a crocheted blanket to a group as a raffle prize. A few people asked her if she would share her skills and teach them. And so, the group began with Irene as the group coordinator/ centre volunteer.

The group has donated thousands of knitted items/ recycled toys to communities locally, statewide and even internationally.

For a few years, every Friday morning Irene had a small stall set up in the centre foyer and people donated bric a brac, plants etc with proceeds going to the Royal Flying Doctor.

We wish Irene the best and thank her for the dedication and hard work in making a difference in our communities.

Note: Jean Jones and Jean Steer (picture with me below) are also two of the original members that still attend.

By the way – a video reel of the group on Over 50's Geraldton Life Facebook page on the 23 January 2025 has currently 53.6k views. Check it out Meritorious Awards were awarded to 6 members. Congratulations on this well-deserved award.

In February one Get well Card and two Sympathy Cards were sent.

The AGM election results are as follows

Monthly lunch was delicious. The menu was Crumbed Chicken, Macaroni and Salad followed by lamington cheesecake & vanilla ice cream.

Lucky Card winners were Lynne Blackmore and Faye Wright.

A few words from Jan Wennekes

In 2011, at 68 I retired from an Aged Care role on a Friday and joined Seniors Action Group the following Monday. At first, I played bowls and helped at monthly lunches.

12 years ago, I joined the committee and been publicity & communications officer ever since providing monthly articles and photos for the QE2 Magazine, Midwest Times, and Birdwood Bugle. I was assistant Secretary in the last couple of years and assistant to Bowls Co-ordinator when organising competitions. Over several years I sent get well, sympathy etc cards to members and Val Brown has now taken over the role. I've enjoyed working with many Presidents and committee members over the years but now I've decided to retire, and others were willing to take over which is fantastic.

Dates for your Diary:

10 March at 10:30am - Committee Meeting

11 March at 10am - Morning Tea followed by Annual General Meeting and Lunch.

Our first general meeting for 2025 was held on the 6 February. We were welcomed by President Val Brown, listened to the minutes from last month's meeting read by Pat Parker and found out from Lyn Walsh what the Club's current financial situation is. To spend some money, we have to use it for our own benefits and so we talked about some possible outings for the coming year.

Kalbarri and Carnamah were mentioned as two places of interest to visit but we also need to have up to 40 people to make it viable to hire a bus. The proposal was we would take the bus to Mingenew, have morning tea there and go to the Museum. Morning Tea can be bought or brought and then we will travel on to see the big tractor which is a much talked about item at the moment.

We discussed inviting various guest speakers to attend our monthly meetings and Val is looking into this. Anyone with good ideas is welcome to talk to Val.

We sang a happy Birthday to Beth Headley and wished Judy and Rod Stewart a happy anniversary.

Lunch was bring and share and brought in by all of us and there was plenty of delicious tasty food to enjoy

Gardening Tales

with Rosetta

Back by popular demand – my monthly gardening article. I seemed to have lost the plot lately, yes literally – the allocated plot of space in my back yard has gone rogue.

Easterly winds and 49 degrees took its toll, but I am pleased to announce my two-metre mango tree is still standing. This is the third mango tree I have attempted to nurture and so far, so good. Mind you I'm very optimistic – anything that grows in my garden is a win.

With renewed vision after returning from my recent Bali holiday and experiencing tropical lushness I thought I really need to sort out my backyard – dig and prepare the soil, continue the watering regime, repot plants.

Speaking of Bali – when we arrived the Airbnb provided some welcome fruit - rambutan, pineapple, bananas, apples and oranges placed strategically on the kitchen bench. One day after attempting to kill myself going down giant water slides at Water Bom Park we returned to see a half-eaten banana and pieces scattered all over the bench. My son foolishly asks, "Mum did you eat that banana and leave a mess?" Yes, I can confirm my son is still alive.

So, who was the culprit? After much discussion we deducted it must have been a squirrel or a monkey So that's a bonus isn't it. We don't have squirrels and monkeys to contend with eating mangos and bananas off our plants. Only monkeys visiting my garden are my two delightful grandsons aged 4 and 5 who love helping in the garden, raking leaves watering plants, Mmmm let's see how that long that lasts. On a side note, would anyone be interested in a plant swap day at the Centre? Happy gardening and keep watering
